

The Royal Crescent and Preston Road Practice

A Patient Guide to Walk-in Flu Clinics

Flu Season 2018

The Royal Crescent and Preston Road surgeries will be holding 'walk-in' flu clinics to give the flu vaccine to eligible patients this season. This leaflet explains why the practice plans to work in this way and what to expect on the day.

'Walk-in' Flu Clinics

What is a 'walk-in' flu clinic?

Walk-in clinics are clinics with no set appointment times for individuals to attend. Our walk-in flu clinics will be held off site at large venues.

Why has the practice decided to do flu clinics in this way?

Last year, the 2 surgeries gave nearly 5,000 flu vaccinations and we carried out most of this work in large walk-in clinics. In the past we have provided clinics at the surgery mostly on Saturdays to avoid disrupting normal service delivery.

Clinics held at the surgeries are limited by parking and space meaning that we can only vaccinate approximately 2-300 patients per clinic. Using large venues overcomes the issues around space and parking meaning that we can vaccinate much larger numbers of patients at any one clinic.

The main advantage to patients is that larger numbers of patients receive the vaccine quicker. Last year, the majority of eligible patients were vaccinated by the end of October. Previously, clinics held in the surgery have gone into November, December and even January when the flu viruses have been circulating for weeks increasing patient risk of exposure. Therefore large walk in flu clinics provide faster protection from flu to our patient population.

What can you expect on the day?

Parking

Venues have been carefully chosen. Please see the back page for details of parking available. There will be plenty of staff to direct you at the venues.

Queues

From previous experience we have learnt that walk-in clinics work better if queues can be avoided. To help prevent queues we provide each patient with a time slot during which to attend. This is to distribute the numbers of patients evenly throughout the clinic.

What if I cannot make the given timeslot?

To help us manage the clinics it is important that you arrive within your designated time slot. If you cannot make this time please contact your surgery to arrange an alternative.

Who will give me the vaccine?

Several practitioners (nurses, GPs and health care assistants) will be available to give you the vaccine in a large room or hall.

What do I need to bring and do?

- IMPORTANT – Read and sign the consent form on the back of the letter and bring it with you.
- Arrive within your time slot
- Wear appropriate clothing - you will be asked to roll up your sleeve exposing the very top section of your arm. You may find it difficult to roll a shirt-sleeve up high enough and this creates delays.
- Either arm can be used unless you have had breast surgery or attend renal units or for any reason been advised not to have injections in a particular arm.
- There will be plenty of staff available to deal with queries.

Who should not attend a 'walk-in' clinic?

Walk-in clinics do not suit everyone and we are still holding some smaller clinics at the surgeries for these patients. These patients are: children (up to age 16 years), pregnant ladies, immunocompromised patients, immobile and/or housebound patients. Patients who struggle to walk and stand can be seen in surgery if they prefer, we will however make every effort to prioritise such patients who arrive at the walk-in clinic.

What if I cannot attend a 'walk in' clinic?

We do request that patients make every effort to attend the clinic they have been offered. However we will be staging three walk-in clinics in total, at different venues. So please contact us and we will give you an alternative date.
